SELECTMEN'S REPORT

Shirley, Mass., March 1, 1911.

To the Voters of the Town of Shirley:

Gentlemen—The Selectmen herewith submit their annual report for the municipal year 1910-1911.

CENTER AND PARKER ROAD WORK

During the past year the town has nearly completed that part of Center and Parker Road under the supervision of the State Highway Commission. The road has been built according to plan which was to be sixteen feet wide with six inches of gravel in the center and four inches at the sides, and the Engineer says it is one of the best roads in town.

A petition was presented to the Selectmen with the required number of signers requesting them to locate the bounds on Patterson Road which was done at the cost of $97.21.

It was reported that the new bridge on Fredonia Street had settled, and on investigating deemed it advisable to have it inspected which was done at the cost of $20.00, and his report will be read at Town Meeting.

GUIDE BOARDS

Through the kindness and generosity of the Altrurian Club, two expensive and attractive guide boards were presented to the town, located at the junction of Main Street and Center Road. The Altrurian Club has done a great deal to beautify the town which is much appreciated.

GUIDE POSTS

In accordance with the requirements of the law we submit the following:

Guide posts have been maintained within the limits of the town in compliance with Chapter 54 of the Public Statutes and Acts and Amendments thereof.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN W. FARRAR,
EDWARD J. STEVENS,
GEORGE E. HARLOW,

Selectmen of Shirley.

During the past year shade trees along the highways have been trimmed and brush cut. The larger part of the appropriation was used to remove brush. The unexpended balance was reserved for bills which were not presented before accounts closed.

Owing to the small amount appropriated no new trees were set out as it was necessary to use all the money to remove brush and trim trees. The Tree Warden has charged nothing for his time and services.

JOHN E. L. HAZEN, Tree Warden.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES

The annual report of the Trustees of the Shirley Public Library is herewith submitted:

We are indebted to Mr. Herbert M. Dickson for fifty dollars ($50.00) worth of carefully selected books. Also, for books received from Mrs. Byram, Mrs. Bolton, Mrs. Flora Snell Allen, Miss Annie Snell, Mrs. E. E. Edgerton, James Melvin, James T. Richardson, Miss Grace Kilburn and a volume of "Bacon is Shakespeare" from the author, Sir Edwin Durning Lawrence, Bart. Magazines from Miss Gertrude Conant and from Mrs. Hattie W. Evans, her annual subscription for several of the current magazines. Official documents from Boston and Washington. An oil portrait of Mrs. Sherman bequeathed by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Willard Howard. A pen and ink drawing of the first fire engine used in Boston, done by M. Andrew Lynch, presented by his wife, Mrs. Cynthia Lynch. A rifle—quite historic—presented by Mr. F. E. Merriman, the same having been presented to Mr. Merriman by a citizen of Lawrence, Kansas, who used this rifle for protection at the time of Quantrell's raid and the burning of Lawrence.

We have been favored with the loan of an unusual number of valuable pictures from the Woman's Educational Association.

We wish the public might visit the Library more frequently when these pictures are on exhibition, as we are confident they would be well repaid in the pleasure as well as benefit derived for their trouble.

We feel sure that the citizens will continue their hearty support and co-operation that the Library may maintain its present standard of excellence in serving the best interests of the town.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN

The Librarian presents the following report for the fiscal year of eleven months ending March 1st, 1911:

Number of books now in the library, 4975.

Number added during the year, 234.

By purchase, 135.

By gift, 99.

Number of days the library has been open, 94.

The number of books taken out during the year, 8600. The largest number in any one month, 960.

These figures show but a part of the library's influence, for it is increasingly used for reference work, especially by the pupils and teachers of the public schools.

Every effort has been to make the library a positive influence for the moral and intellectual uplift of the community rather than a mere store house of books.

Respectfully submitted,

ALICE L. WRIGHT, Librarian.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH

The past year has been very free from contagious and communicable disease, with the exception of an epidemic of dysentery.

There have been a few sporadic cases of diphtheria and quite a few cases of mumps and chicken pox reported. During the latter part of the summer, the time by the way when the flies are most plentiful, we had an outbreak of epidemic dysentery, a very rare disease in our climate. However, during the past summer there have been outbreaks in several towns in Massachusetts very similar to the one which we encountered. The disease manifested itself by a chill, high temperature and discharge from the bowels of blood and mucus. As the disease progressed the writer called in Dr. Simpson of Lowell, who is inspector of this district, for the State Board of Health.

Dr. Simpson quite agreed with the local board that the disease was carried by flies that had access to open privies. As Dr. Simpson very aptly puts it, "Filth, flies and disease," which saying in the opinion of most medical men is very true.

An inspection of the privies in the infected districts showed a deplorable condition, many of them are built of wood on a level with the ground and the walls and covers either rotted away or pulled apart through carelessness. The Board of Health, after their inspection, passed an order to the effect that all privies in the village or any other closely settled part of the town must be built of concrete, brick, or stone, and must be properly covered in such a way that flies will have no access to them. It is a very pertinent fact that as soon as the flies disappeared the epidemic ceased.

The Board of Health also ordered all privies cleaned once in three months.

The time is soon coming when the Village district will be obliged to have sewers and it will be well to plan ahead for such a contingency.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. LILLY, M. D.,

Agent for the Board of Health.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The School Committee herewith render their report for the year ending February 28, 1911:

Your committee find the schools of the town in very good condition. Despite the fact that there have been several changes in teachers, all due in fact, to more lucrative positions having been offered them, the work has gone along excellently, showing that a certain "esprit du corps" is maintained in the different grades.

The most difficult problem your committee have to face at present are high school accommodations and the transportation of children who reside at a distance from the schools. The high school problem is two-fold. There is no question but that in the near future our present accommodations for the high school will be inadequate and as the superintendent states in his report, it is only a question of time when a new building will be necessary. In view of this fact it is well to be cautious in the matter of expending too much on the repair or transformation of old buildings.

The matter of transportation has always been a vexing one. How to get the best service at the least expense has given us great concern, and we are directing all our energies toward concentrating the routes.

Having been ordered to install a fire escape by the State police, who have arbitrary power in such matters, your committee have had a fire escape built on the east side of the new school building, and arrangements have been made for a fire drill at various times in order that if a fire occurred the children would have no knowledge of it until they have emerged from the building.

In relation to the high school, it is the intention of the committee to make the course as practical as possible. We contemplate installing a very complete commercial course in order to enable those of our children, who formerly were obliged to attend commercial schools at their own expense, to acquire their education at home. There is also a plan to give as much of a technical education as it is possible for a town of our size to give.

One very good innovation has been established this year, that of manual training. Our teacher in drawing, Miss Staples, fortunately is well trained in this particular branch and we have aided in every possible way to develop it. The boys have had the use of the so-called No. 8 schoolhouse for their carpentry and are making excellent use of it.

The girls are taking up other branches of industry as you will see by the superintendent's report.

We earnestly hope to give the children at the Center school the same advantage in the industrial line as the children of the Village enjoy. An endeavor will be made the coming year to bring this about. Mr. Johnson, in his report, has given all details about changes of teachers and course of study.

By a vote of the town at the last annual town meeting, the committee was authorized to install flush closets in the new school building, so-called.

By a vote of the committee, Mr. Charles H. Weare, Jr., was appointed a committee of one to supervise the same. Mr. Weare's report is hereby appended:

March 2, 1911.

At the beginning of the Fall term of school the installation of modern flush closets to supersede the old-style closets was undertaken at the new Village school building, an appropriation of $500.00 having been made at the annual Town Meeting in April, 1910, for said purpose. Some progress was made in this line in the early part of the summer vacation, but with the resignation of Mr. Taylor, as a member of the school committee, the matter was delayed for some time.

Other delay was caused in efforts being made to get a satisfactory piece of work done for the amount of the appropriation made for the same, but as this was impossible, it was decided to go ahead with the work as planned and do the work as reasonably as possible, consistent with modern practice.

A contract was made with Daniel Credit to build a large cesspool on the land at the rear of the school building, which was built early in the fall.

A contract was then made with Cragin & Wilkins of Leominster for the installation of the flush closets and all the inside work connected therewith, with the understanding that the schools would be closed for two weeks at the Thanksgiving vacation to permit of this work without interference with the school work.

This work was executed in contract time and in a very satisfactory manner since which time the closets have been giving good satisfaction and must be considered a great improvement and are in the line of modern practice where running water is available.

Respectfully submitted,

T. E. LILLY,

W. H. WILBUR.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

Members of the Committee:

In this report I wish to emphasize a few of the more vital factors of our school administration. To that end it will be desirable to omit entirely or treat lightly those details of the school work which are familiar to all.

Several changes took place in the teaching force at the end of the year. Mr. William G. Crommett, a graduate of Bates College, with a year of successful experience as principal, was elected principal of the High school to succeed Shipley W. Ricker. Miss Florence E. Gibbs, a teacher of three years' experience, and with training at the Hyannis summer school, was secured to succeed Miss Leona E. Foster as principal of the Center school. Miss Gibbs accepted a position nearer Boston during the present term and was succeeded by Miss Alma Bowles, a graduate of Fitchburg Normal school. Miss Bernice E. Staples, a graduate of Lowell Normal school, with two years' experience as a grade teacher, and also a graduate of the State Normal Art School, with one year's experience as a supervisor, was elected to the position of Supervisor of Drawing, formerly held by Miss Emily Haines. Miss Nellie Cronin of grades five and six has just been elected to a position in Waverley. Her successor has not yet been appointed.

The most striking feature of the present year's work is the introduction of bench work for the boys, and book binding for the girls in grades seven and eight. There has also been a larger amount of construction work in all the grades than heretofore.

A sum of less than forty dollars was spent for tools. The little brick school building was opened up and the boys set to work making their own benches and horses. These are about completed at the present time and work demanding more careful use of tools will be introduced next. The work accomplished so far has been inspected by Mr. Burnham of the State Board for the Introduction of the Manual Arts, and approved.

An exhibition of this and other parts of the manual training work will probably be held before the close of the school year, in order to give the townspeople an opportunity to see its development.

This bench work should be extended to the High school as fast as is practicable with the time of the special teacher at our command. Corresponding work in book binding, sewing and other household economy should be given to the girls. As a step in this direction, a room for a kitchen could be fitted up by the boys in the manual training classes, in one corner of the brick school-house. The full development of this work will demand more time than we now have from the special teacher—one day per week for drawing and manual training. A special teacher in each line of work, one for the girls and one for the boys, will sometime be demanded. But the interest shown by the pupils, the evident need of most of them for this kind of work, and its helpfulness both as a needed supplement to the more purely book work and as a general training for more highly specialized vocational work, justify the careful attention of us all.

An unfortunate limitation of the bench work is that it cannot be provided for the upper grades at the Center school. In order to give the boys in these grades at the Center some hand work, book binding has been introduced for both sexes. But this will not be as adapted to the needs of the boys as the bench work would be.

However, as these boys come from the farms it may be wise to provide other than mere mechanical work for them. There seems to be a splendid opportunity for the practice of forestry and agriculture afforded by the presence near the school at the Center of several acres of land belonging, I am told, to the town. If it proves that this lot is available for school use I shall try to initiate some work in this direction as soon as meets your approval.

With the purpose of getting information that will help toward determining the character of our High school curricula I have taken statistics among the four classes of the High school and also in the two grades of the grammar school. Following are the results for the thirty-eight answers in the High school:

To complete course, 32	Not to complete course, 6
Of this number:	Of these:
Going to college, 8	Going to business school, 3
Going to normal, 5	Going on railroad, 1
Going to college or normal, 2	Going to become machin-
Going to business school, 5	ist, 1
To become trained nurses, 2	Doubtful, 1
To study music, 1
Going on railroad, 1
Doubtful, 8

Of the thirty-two answers in the grammar school, eighteen expect to enter High school, nine do not intend to do so, and five are doubtful. These latter are doubtful, in general, in regard to their future plans. Of the others the results are as follows:

Of the eighteen to enter High school:

To complete course, 14	Not to complete course, 1
Of the 14:	This one intends to go into
Going to college, 7	a store.
Going to business school, 1
Going to normal school, 4
Doubtful, 2

Of the nine not intending to enter High school:

Business college, 3	Machinist or carpenter, 1
Shop, 1	Farm, 2
Cooking school, 1	Railroad, 1

It appears then that of those now in High school a good preparatory course for college or normal school, together with a business course would meet the demands of about all. Of those in the grammar school not going to High school, one-third would be accommodated by a business course in the High school. And the two courses suggested would meet the demands of all those intending to enter High school and having their plans formed. A hasty conclusion might be that we should therefore fix upon two courses, one preparatory for college or normal school, the other, a strictly business course. And this may be the proper thing to do.

However, it may be well to ask how far our present courses limit and influence the choice of the pupils. It does not appear that many are dropping out between the grades and the High school who would be kept in by a more strictly vocational course. Yet in both these courses it may be our duty to arrange our curricula so as to lead, not only to the college, but also to the vocational world.

I throw out these suggestions as well worth our earnest attention. Further help to the proper solution of our problem I hope to get from Mr. William Orr, Deputy Commissioner of Education, who has promised me to visit us, with this one point in view, of advising us in relation to the work of the High school.

Whatever may be the outcome as to curricula, it is evident that we must soon provide more room and another assistant for the High school. More room is not available in the present building without removing the grammar school; and we have no place to put it should it be moved. Moreover, the present building, while sufficient for our needs while developing the mere organization of a school, is not suited for any extended growth, by reason of lack of laboratory and recitation rooms. It would be well therefore to realize that in a few years a new school building will be necessary. And as the High school will form an important part of such a building, grounds large enough to form a baseball diamond should be provided. I bespeak for this need the careful attention of every supporter of our schools to the end that there may be a wise provision for usefulness and growth in such a building as may be erected.

The physical conditions of the Church Street school building have been improved by the introduction of flush closets, provided for at the last annual meeting. They have proved their worth.

A considerable criticism of various towns throughout the State has been recently made as a result of the study of one of the agents of the State Board of Education regarding medical inspection in our schools. He finds in many instances a lack of compliance with the law. This law specifically states that the school physician shall examine each pupil at least once a year, besides passing on cases referred to him by the teachers and by the officer who signs labor certificates.

As a result of this discovery of a general failure to comply with the law, it is likely that new legislation will be passed in the near future remedying the weaknesses of the present law. I trust the report of our school physician will show that we have complied with the law in this very important feature of our school work.

Our regular work has been carried on along lines similar to those of past years. Possibly two things are worth noting in this line. First, we are using, with unusually good results, a very large and free handwriting in the primary school. This gradually decreases in the size of the letters as the child advances through the grades. The justification of such a procedure is found in the fact that the child gets control of the larger muscles first. Hence his finer muscles are not in a condition of co-ordination to enable him to write the small letter of the adult without undue cramp and strain.

The second fact to note is that in the work in arithmetic we are trying to do somewhat more work in the first six years in order to lessen the tremendous pressure that has been necessary in the grammar room heretofore.

I call attention to the reports of the Principal of the High school and of the Supervisors of Music and Drawing which accompany this. They are well worth careful reading, representing as they do two very important expression subjects of the curriculum.

I take pleasure in recording my appreciation of the good solid work that is being done throughout the schools, and of the good discipline that is maintained. And I take pride in giving credit for this to the teachers who act wisely and discreetly, and to the School Committee for their hearty support.

Respectfully submitted,

F. C. JOHNSON.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

F. C. Johnson, Superintendent of Schools:

The present High School year began with the unusual enrollment of 38. It is well to note, too, that the graduating class will exceed the average of preceding years, being seven in number.

A special aim this year has been to make the periods of class room study count for as much as possible. Under the existing time schedule the number of study periods for each student average about one for every recitation period. It must not be argued that this apparent abundance of time for study in school does away with the necessity for home study. The two are interdependent and what is lacking in one should be made up in the other. The great importance, however, of class room study lies in the fact that it embraces the very structure of discipline. It turns what might be wasted time to good account. It makes way for a continuous absorption of the pupils in some work, either of study or of recitation.

The work of the assistant teacher is commendable. Her aid in arranging the routine work at the beginning of the year was indispensable.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. G. CROMMETT.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

Mr. F. C. Johnson, Superintendent of Schools:

During the past year the work in music in the schools of Shirley has been as usual.

Last June the High school made a very creditable showing at the graduation exercises, especially considering the fact that they practiced only once in two weeks.

The introduction of the Harmonic Series of music readers in all of the schools at the beginning of the school year has proved to be of benefit to the children.

I was very much pleased at the interest shown by the pupils in the grammar school when I requested them to purchase for themselves a copy of either the "Blue" or "Red" song book for supplementary work. The "Blue" contains well-known songs, such as "The Blue Bells of Scotland," "The Suwanee River," "Home, Sweet Home," etc. The "Red" contains a few of these songs and many hymns suitable for morning exercises. Nearly every pupil responded and the school is doing excellent work with these songs.

In December we tried the plan of combining the High school and grammar schools and arranged four numbers of music for their Christmas exercises. The result was satisfactory, and the plan may be tried again.

I have found all the teachers, both old and new, ready to co-operate with me in every way.

Respectfully submitted,

NETTIE L. GREEN,

Supervisor of Music.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MANUAL ARTS

To the Superintendent of Schools, Shirley, Mass.:

The subject of drawing is valuable in training children to observe, compare and judge the value of their surroundings. It develops imagination and stimulates invention. Drawing should be a graphic vocabulary to be used whenever occasion requires. Many times ideas are much more easily expressed by a few lines than by many words. When the school children of today take their places in the world's work, they will find the power to draw rapidly and accurately invaluable, whatever their vocations may be. The salesman may often use a sketch to describe his wares. The dressmaker and milliner may picture gowns and hats for waiting customers if they possess the power to do it rapidly and well.

In the primary grades we use drawing as a free and easy means of expression, really clearer to the child than much speaking. The children are urged to express themselves in pictures, even as primitive people have always done. In the grammar grades we aim to get accurate expression of the shape and proportion and, later, the appearance of foreshortened surfaces. We try to have the children draw not only from the object, but from memory. The drawing from objects with many details necessitates not only careful observation but also good judgment in choosing which parts must be drawn and which parts eliminated. In the High school the girls are applying what knowledge has been gained, strengthening weak points, and gaining new ideas by making a book on home decoration. The book is being printed and illustrated with pen and ink and water colors by the girls and will be bound by them when it is finished.

The color work throughout the grades is planned to develop a keener sense of good combinations of refined colors. The design work enables children to appreciate what is appropriate and beautiful. They will be able after this work to choose clothing with better taste, we hope. They will realize that furniture which is simple and well made is better than the showy, cheaply made kind. We are trying to teach them that to be beautiful, an object must be fitted for its purpose, simple and well proportioned, rather than excessively ornamented.

The mechanical drawing in the High school is practical. The boys are taught to make and read working drawings of common furniture. They ought to have a chance to work from their drawings.

In the time given to manual training we endeavor to make useful things. Objects are made in the most practical way with due regard for beauty of proportion and finish. The ornament must never interfere with the usefulness of an article.

In the lower grades the children work with paper and cardboard. We increase the difficulty of the work as fast as the powers of the children develop. In the grammar grades raphia mats and baskets, and reed baskets are made. Book binding, sewing and sloyd have been introduced this year. In the book-binding work the children have made portfolios, calendar mounts, note book covers and clipping files. The girls are making aprons now and the boys are making the furniture for the sloyd room. The planning and constructing of useful things have great educational value.

No manual training is planned which is thought too hard for the children to do all by themselves from the beginning to end. If a teacher finds that she has a class, one-half of which cannot accomplish the work outlined without assistance she should state the fact at once and the outline will be revised if necessary. It is not right for a teacher to do part of a child's work and permit him to take it home as his own. Besides giving the parents a false idea of the child's ability she lessens the educational value of the work which is its reason for being in the school. She also lessens the child's power to depend upon himself and if there is anything the present day children need it is the habit of thinking for themselves. This thinking habit should start in the first grade and continue to grow every year. We are working for development in the children rather than perfect work for exhibitions. If the children are led aright good work will follow in time.

The following is a brief outline of the work which has been planned for the grades:

Grades I and II. Picture writing—the expression of thought by means of pictures. Object drawing—shapes of common objects committed to memory. Design—the beautifying of objects made, printing, book covers, rhythm, color. Nature work—observation and representation of common grasses and flowers. Constructive work—paper cutting, folding, pasting.

Grades III and IV. Picture writing—free and clear expression of thought. Object drawing—chief characteristics and proportions of objects such as kitchen utensils. Design—decoration of objects, booklets, printing. Nature drawing—growth and proportion of common flowers and plants. Construction work—booklets, card board boxes, furniture, etc.

Grades V and VI. Object drawing—shape and proportion of objects and appearance of foreshortened circles. Design-decoration of objects, printing, booklets, map drawing and illustrative drawing. Nature drawing—appearance of foreshortened plant forms, such as grass blades, growth. Constructive work—reed baskets, raphia mats and baskets.

Grades VII and VIII. Object drawing—rectangular objects with foreshortened surfaces, map drawing and working drawings. Design-decoration of clipping files, booklets, etc., and printing. Nature drawings—exact representation of twigs and leaves in any position. Construction work—sewing, sloyd, book-binding.

I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the hearty co-operation of the superintendent, committee and teachers in all the work I have undertaken. I enjoy working in such a helpful atmosphere as exists in Shirley.

Respectfully submitted,

BERNICE E. STAPLES.

REPORT OF SCHOOL PHYSICIAN

To the School Committee:

The health of the school children during the past year has been far better than in previous years. This improved condition is undoubtedly due to the abolition of the common drinking cup and the installation of more sanitary methods of obtaining drinking water. Another thing which conduces to the good health of the Village children is the putting in of flush closets at the new school house. There is great need of a better water supply at the Center school, as the well has not been adequate for the needs of the children and consequently they have been obliged at times to rely upon the good nature of the neighboring families. It might be suggested that the well be cleaned and deepened and if that were done there would unquestionably be an ample water supply. There have been some criticisms as to the comfort of the children who are transported and it might be well for your committee to investigate and to insist that proper robes or blankets be furnished.

I am very much pleased at the satisfactory results we have obtained from our improved sanitary conditions and I trust that a great deal more may be done along the same line.

We cannot overestimate the importance of having proper conditions in health matters in our schools, as the schools, both public and private, are without doubt the great breeding place of our most common contagious diseases. Therefore, we should endeavor by every possible means to eliminate, as far as it is our power to do so, any condition which will aid the spread of contagion of any kind.

The teachers should always be on the alert to detect anything abnormal about a child and the School Physician should be at once notified when such a condition exists.

The parents also should exercise extreme care when a child is ill, as in this matter they have a double responsibility, the health of their own child and the danger of exposing other children to some serious illness.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. LILLY, M. D.,

School Physician.
